FIRST SECOND Sunday Lesson: God Is Willing To Forgive, Cleanse Us of Sins

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
The topic of the International Sunday School lesson for tomorrow is "Confession and Forgiveness." The lesson text is based on 12 verses (1-12) of the 51st Psalm.

Consisting of a study of "The Bible and Devotional Life," the lesson recounts the dramatic event of how King David was confronted by Nathan the Prophet "after he had gone in to Bath-Sheba."

Nathan told David of a man who had many flocks but, when a visitor came, the wealthy man took a single lamb that was the only property of a poor man and prepared it for his guest.

David was incensed and ordered that the man who had committed this injustice be put to death.

Nathan replied by pointing the finger of accusation straight at King David and declaring, "Thou art the man." David repented, and Nathan declared — as one of God's prophets — that David should not die for the sin he had committed.

Confession and forgiveness are two of the experiences every honest person in this and every other generation has been compelled to acknowledge and to appeal to God's mercy.

We are all sinners, and spiritual growth begins with repentance on our part and goes on to forgiveness on the part of God. The Christian belief is that justification and forgiveness come in to us through the atonement of Christ on the cross.

We first need to be conscious of our wrongdoing. Then we ask for pardon, for purity, and then for the cleansing of the heart and spirit. True repentance and confession and humility before God were needed that David's sin be forgiven.

God is loving and ever more willing to forgive us our sins than we are to be cleansed. God alone can save us. We need to cast ourselves upon the infinite mercies of God and to depend upon God alone to give us pardon and peace.

David had deliberately brought about the death of Bath-Sheba's husband in order that he might marry Bath-Sheba. He cried out for the mercy of God. He besought God that he blot out his transgressions, wash him thoroughly from iniquity and cleanse him from sin.

We are assured that, if we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us (1 John 1:8). When we are overtaken by sin, the first step is confession of our sin, the next is repentance, and the third is the placing of our lives in the hands of God, Who is merciful to the sinner.

Sin is estrangement from God. God alone is holy, and there can be no forgiveness until we have acknowledged our sin and asked for God's forgiveness. "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all" (Isaiah 53:6).

Psychiatrists today seek ways to overcome a guilt complex which may cause serious nervous trouble in a patient. It is a day of moral renovation and joy for any person when he sees himself in the light of God's forgiveness. When we confess our sins God forgives us and strengthens us so that we stand before Him in joy and gladness. A new creation and a new spirit renew us when we confess our sins and ask for God's forgiveness.

Verse 17 of the 51st Psalm declares, "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."

The accusing finger of the Prophet Nathan pointing to King David, who had committed a great crime, stands out in a dramatic fashion. No one is able to bear the guilt of sin alone. It is only when religious faith leads us to confession that we know peace of mind.

We need always to remind ourselves that life is made for triumph, not for defeat. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through Him might be saved" (John 3:16, 17).

The only one who needs to fear God's judgment is the person who declares that he has no sins from which to be rescued and forgiven by God Himself.

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9).

New Guinea Bishop Visits Lansford to Renew Mission Ties

By STEVE ARMSTRONG
There are strong religious ties between New Guinea in the South Pacific and Lansford in Carbon County.
Seven Lansford priests and five Lansford nuns are doing missionary work in New Guinea, halfway around the world from their home.
Their bishop was in Lansford this week to visit the hometown of his missionary coworkers.
The Rev. Louis Vangeke, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Port Moresby in the Papua Territory of New Guinea, was in Lansford Wednesday as part of his first trip to the United States.

He is the first native New Guinean to become a bishop. He is visiting this country and Canada to raise funds for missionary work.
His trip to Lansford was among several planned in Eastern Pennsylvania to see the hometowns of many missionaries he has worked with in New Guinea.
He visited friends at the home of Stephen Kopunek of E. Paterson Street, Lansford. Kopunek has two brothers doing missionary work in New Guinea.
Most Americans doing mission work are on New Ireland and other islands north of New Guinea mainland.

The seven priests from Lansford on missions in New Guinea are the Revs. Vincent and Martin Kopunek, George Sirak, Stephen Geusic, Bernard Jakubec, Michael P. Petko and William Jones, who recently returned to New Guinea after a visit home.
Father Jones has been appointed national Catholic education director with the task of coordinating Catholic efforts to establish a school system in New Guinea. He is stationed in Port Moresby and will be working closely with Bishop Vangeke.
The five Lansford nuns working in New Guinea are Sisters Joseph A. Lapos, Rosemarie

Balazek, Mildred Imrisek, Depfilia Lako and Regine Sediva.
The sisters, priests and Bishop Vangeke all belong to the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart, an international missionary group. It was the first missionary order to come to New Guinea in 1885.
Before his three-week U.S. tour, Bishop Vangeke spent six weeks in Canada. He has already visited Chicago and Youngstown, Ohio. After his visits in Pennsylvania, he will fly to New York to depart for Europe.
He has been especially interested during this trip in raising funds for adult education and vocational training centers in New Guinea. He said he feels his fellow citizens must prepare for independence, which Australia will soon grant them.

Bishop Vangeke has also been working in cooperation with Wings of Hope, Inc., of St. Louis, Mo., a private charitable organization that supplies air transportation to remote areas of the world. He is trying to raise money to establish flights to supply New Guinea missions.
He said there will be a benefit air show Sept. 17 at Pocono International Raceway to support missions in New Guinea. It will be sponsored by Wings of Hope and the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart.

Born in Papua Territory, Bishop Vangeke is the son of a tribal sorcerer and was raised in a missionary orphanage. After his conversion to Christianity, he studied and became the first New Guinea priest in 1937.
During a visit to Australia in December 1970, Pope Paul VI personally ordained Bishop Vangeke. When Bishop Vangeke returned to his native village to celebrate his first Mass as a bishop, the tribal chiefs invested him with the powers and prerogatives of a temporal chief.

Asked about the coming of age in his native land, Bishop Vangeke said they experienced in a lifetime "the transition from the Stone Age to the Atomic Age," or as he added, "from the grass skirt to the miniskirt."
Bishop Vangeke said he is enjoying his American tour very much and was impressed with Lansford and other Pennsylvania communities he visited. He hopes he can return in two years.
He also expressed his gratitude to the American people for their liberation of New Guinea from the Japanese in World War II.
