A Snake Bite Victim is Helped...

Our chief pilot directs loading of stricken Peruvian for emergency flight to Iquitos Hospital.

My Dear Friend:

The present letter is to thank you for the services provided to my person in the worst moments of my life. We must say that the Plane, supported by Wings of Hope and piloted by Padre Guy Gervais, saved my life.

I suffered with a bite of a venomous snake of which nearly everybody dies. Being away from any help (more than a week in motor boat), i.e. from Iquitos. In our district, we have Padre Marien Gagnon, a real dedicated Franciscan. He contacted the pilot of Wings of Hope, and Padre Gervais flew me without delay to Iquitos Hospital, in time to receive the necessary cares and save my life.

I know, my case is one of the numerous emergencies of Wings of Hope in the Amazon Basin. For me, it is a demonstration of love impulsed by the Spirit of St. Louis, without any remuneration, but only to help a fellowman less fortunate.

I express to you and to those who are making available the help of Wings of Hope, my most sincere and deepest gratitude.

Truly yours,
Gaston Ramos Rivadeneyra

Dear Mr. Edwards:

Thank you very much for your kind wishes on the success of Apollo 11 prior to its launch in July. We now believe that the accomplishments of the flight which you wished for were achieved.

I certainly want to send my congratulations on your efforts on behalf of Wings of Hope. I am certain that this valuable project is achieving brotherhood between nations in a way that cannot be accomplished by diplomacy or government aid programs. As an aviator, I sincerely salute this fine service as being one of the best achievements of the combination of general aircraft and dedicated individuals of good will.

Sincerely,

Neil A. Armstrong
